Connecting wired to an access point

2019/07/28

I used to have a secondary router in the summer house (Connected to hub via a cat5 into the WAN). all the wired devices in the summer house (TV, Sky, NAS etc) all worked fine. I have now turned the secondary router into an access point so that everything is on the same network, but now everything that was previously wired into the secondary router now does not work.do I need to make sure that all the IP addresses of the wired devices in the summer house are outside the DHCP range of the primary router?Any help would be much appreciated
