Which Ubiquiti Unifi Router? Lite vs Long Range vs Pro - [Solved]
2019/07/20

Hi,I would like to purchase a commercial grade router, since I'm tired of these consumer routers not performing to my expectations. So several other individuals on Toms Hardware have recommended that I get a Ubiquiti Unifi AP.However, there are three options: LR, Lite, and Pro.This will be used in my household, with maybe 14 users max at any one time. I stream movies videos etc. within a 2500 sq. Ft. house. I will be placing the router dead center in the house and so at most, the signal will need to go through around 3 or 4 walls most of the time. My Internet plan is 150mbps down and 15 mbps up, and want a router that can fully make use of this connection. So I want the router running at 150 (on the 5g of course) unlike my other routers that bottleneck at 40.I don't need any extra Ethernet ports (as provided for the PRO), because these are just end units. I would like the best range I can get, with the highest speeds. However, 2 lites are the same price as 1 Pro, so if the lites can completely do the job, then I can get 2 instead of one PRO. Here is a comparison chart between the routers:
